Conner works with his clients to understand their vision and helps to effectively and efficiently guide them to their business and real estate goals. He has experience representing a variety of clients from small businesses to publicly traded companies in real estate and transactional matters. He handles all aspects that go into a commercial real estate transaction, including 1031 exchanges, triple net leases, Qualified Opportunity Zones, title review, lien filings, lease negotiations, and any related litigation issues that may arise.

He draws on his general corporate experience involving business formation and dissolution, drafting of contracts and agreements, and corporate compliance to advise his clients all the way through a project to their end operating goals.
