Jenifer is a corporate attorney with more than 20 years of experience advising businesses on complex transactions, strategic partnerships, and corporate governance. She works closely with companies in the technology, mobility, and nonprofit sectors, helping leadership teams structure agreements that drive growth while effectively managing legal and regulatory risk. She regularly partners with executives, sales teams, and business leaders to translate legal complexity into practical business solutions.

Over the course of her career, Jenifer has helped scale venture-backed companies from startup through more than $100 million in revenue, building legal infrastructure that supports rapid growth and evolving operational needs. As a founding legal leader within a high-growth technology company, she established compliance, governance, and contract management frameworks that enabled the business to expand nationally while navigating venture capital financing and complex commercial relationships.

Jenifer has negotiated and managed thousands of sophisticated commercial agreements, including strategic alliances, SaaS and technology contracts, licensing arrangements, joint ventures, and enterprise partnerships across domestic and international markets. She has extensive experience structuring deals that generate long-term value while protecting her clients' business interests.
